

SoftwareOne Agentspace Retreat

Let's build, not bluff. Real AI agents for real challenges.

Data chaos, rising expectations, no clear roadmap? Modern IT faces growing pressure, and yet many teams are still unsure how to make real use of AI agents. Imagine if you could stop talking about AI and start working with it – hands-on, no jargon, and with measurable results.

Let's get moving while others are still talking

Welcome to the SoftwareOne Agentspace Discovery Retreat. Two days, straight to the point: You'll explore real-world AI use cases, test Agentic AI on Google Cloud, and build your own path to smart automation. All guided by SoftwareOne experts and no prior knowledge required.

For organisations ready to work with AI, not just talk about it

Work on real use cases

No theory marathons, just relevant, tangible applications for your business.

Start with zero AI experience

Everyone joins at eye level – IT and business teams together.

Google Cloud sandbox included

No setup needed, your testing environment is ready to go.

Try Agentic AI live

Explore how Google Agentspace enables autonomous workflows.

Take home usable results

Leave with real PoC ideas: scalable, practical, and based on your own challenges.

Stay ahead of the curve

You'll already be working hands-on while others are still reading whitepapers.

Two days. One clear outcome: Real AI momentum

Day 1 – Strategy & Ideation

Together with our experienced consultants, you'll start by exploring the foundations of Agentic AI. You'll identify relevant business areas, develop first ideas, and prioritise use cases that matter. The goal: a shared understanding across teams, concrete use cases tailored to your organisation, and a clear roadmap for getting started.

Day 2 – Hands-on Hackathon

Now it gets practical. In small teams, you'll transform selected ideas into working prototypes – hands-on, using Google Cloud and Agentspace. By the end of the day, you'll hold real, testable results in your hands. No slideware, no theory, just solutions built from your own challenges.
